

150 YEARS OF RAILROAD INDUSTRY SERVICE

OUR TRACK RECORD OF SUCCESS

With more than a century committed to counseling Pennsylvania's Rail and related Transportation industries on matters such as litigation, public utility law, and real estate, the attorneys at Nauman Smith have been long recognized as authorities in this vital practice area.

The core of our representation centers on the rail industry, both Class I and short line railroads, where Nauman Smith has been involved in every major area of rail litigation and regulatory activity. Nauman Smith has continuously represented railroads since the firm's beginnings in the 1870s.

"We know what questions to ask and we understand the vocabulary. There's a foundation of industry knowledge that's been passed down generationally at Nauman Smith which helps us to better serve our railroad clients." - Craig Staudenmaier

Litigation experience includes:

- Employee claims under the Federal Employer's Liability Act (FELA)
- Crossing accidents
- Trespasser and property damage suits

In rail-highway crossing and related matters, in which the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission (PUC) has regular jurisdiction, our attorneys have represented clients in:

- Complex crossing abolition proceedings
- Bridge and at-grade crossing reconstruction
- Repair proceedings
- Application proceedings initiated by governmental entities to establish new at-grade crossings
