

150 YEARS OF PREPARATION AND REPRESENTATION

LITIGATION SERVICES AT NAUMAN SMITH

When individuals or companies are threatened with or become involved in litigation, or are considering a lawsuit to protect their interests, our attorneys and professional support staff are prepared to help. More importantly, Nauman Smith assists with evaluating whether litigation is the best alternative or whether there are other, more beneficial options.

Our attorneys routinely handle the defense of clients in:

- Personal injury
- Property damage
- Real estate
- Business disputes

ARBITRATION AND MEDIATION

Nauman Smith recognizes that many clients wish to avoid the delay and expense associated with protracted litigation of their disputes. Members of the practice group routinely represent clients in all forms of arbitration and mediation settings, including compulsory and contractual arbitration.

APPELLATE ADVOCACY

The litigation group offers a full range of appellate services in appeals to the Commonwealth, Superior, and Supreme Courts of Pennsylvania, and the Third Circuit Court of Appeals. Nauman Smith attorneys routinely handle the preparation of complex briefs and oral argument before the appellate courts. They also handle cases involving the original jurisdiction of the Commonwealth Court and the enforcement of trial and appellate court orders including those involved in Right-to-Know Law cases.

“It’s important to us that our clients feel prepared for the inevitable and supported through the unexpected.” - Craig Staudenmaier
